

ACCENT REDUCTION

It is a fact: like it or not, people are judged by the way they speak. This is especially true for fluent non-native speakers of English living in the United States. Research has confirmed that native English speakers have greater expectations for native-like pronunciation when interacting with highly fluent foreigners. Although it may not be fair, the ability to speak English clearly and with a minimal foreign accent is the key to social, academic, and professional success for many people living in the United States and other English-speaking countries.

Achieving lasting and reliable accent reduction in English requires the use of specific teaching strategies due to differences in how the brain processes pronunciation and how it processes grammar and vocabulary. Without the right instructional approach and the use of effective accent reduction instructional methodologies, English language learners are unlikely to make significant improvement in their English pronunciation. This is why Premium Language's accent reduction experts have been extensively trained to use the most effective tools, instructional resources, and teaching techniques to help students make permanent, noticeable improvements in their English pronunciation.
